Bon Appetit!

Have you checked out the menu of American Academy of Health Physics (AAHP) activities to be offered at the HPS Annual Meeting in San Francisco?

As an appetizer try one of three 8-hour Continuing Education classes presented on the Saturday prior to the meeting:

- Radiation Litigation, David Wiedis, Jose & Wiedis Attorneys at Law.
- A Comprehensive Review of the Basic Regulations for Transportation of Nuclear Materials, Alfred W. Grella, Grella Consulting Inc.
- Low-Level Radioactive Waste Management: Past, Present and Future, Frank X. Massé, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The main course is the AAHP Special Session - a piquant discussion of the future role of CHPs and the Academy in current legislative trends for ionizing radiation. Jerry A. Thomas will chair this session.

Dessert is the AAHP business meeting - an opportunity to meet the new AAHP officers, discuss Academy issues and join in the celebration of this year's recipient of the William B. McAdams Award for Outstanding Service.

If we've whetted your appetite, check the Annual Meeting Preliminary Program and join us in a fine AAHP dining experience. ■
